73% Arkansas Papers 'Offset,' Mail Note

Hope Star was the fourth daily newspaper plant in Arkansas to sell off its letterpress plant—3 Linotypes, flatbed press, and stereotyping equipment—and install an offset printing plant, built around a $91,000 Fairchild rotary offset press, Dec. 29, 1965.

But in seven short years the offset-printed papers in our state have grown to 73 per cent of the total.

I am reminded of this by a note in the current membership bulletin of Arkansas Press Association:

"A request from Alex Washburn of Hope Star to us, to send an APA directory to a representative of Eastman Kodak Co., showing the number of offset and letterpress newspapers caused me to check this figure again. We discovered 73 per cent of Arkansas newspapers are now printed by offset—this has to be some kind of record nationally. We know of a couple more which are in the early stages of conversion, not counted in total of 73 per cent.—Mrs. Louise Bowker, secretary-manager, APA, Little Rock."

Editor The Star: Congratulations on your selection of George S. Smith as managing editor. I have never met him but I believe he has the character, experience, and ability to perform a valuable service to the paper and the community.

The Star has gone to great lengths to obtain a satisfactory position for the address label on the newspaper. The label should never appear across headlines or news text—and if it does subscribers are requested to mail the offending front page to me personally.

An address label wandering over page one and obscuring reading matter is a common fault of newspapers. The late Clyde Dew, managing editor of Arkansas Gazette, used to telephone me—an old state editor of the Gazette—about once a month to inquire whether I had heard any complaint on this score from Gazette mail subscribers.

Some years ago I bought a modern mailing machine which positions the label exactly, if the proper adjustment to the machine is made. And the Daily Bread heading was moved down from a flush top position to leave room for the mailing label. That's where it should always be—just above this column's heading.

I'd like to know any time the label strays from that position. Don't bother writing—just send me the front page showing the label, and your name and post office or route.

By GREGG HERRINGTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Southern Democratic governors say they fear a victory by Sen. George McGovern in the party's presidential nomination race would hurt the Democrats in the South.

But they're apparently forgetting any thoughts of a "stop McGovern" drive, accepting the likelihood the South Dakotan will be the nominee, and hoping to influence his stand on the issues and on his vice presidential candidate.

Conservatives Win Texas Election

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas politics still had its conservative look today although somewhat diluted. But the big significance of Saturday's runoff elections and the first primary a month ago was the almost violent turn to reform by the voters.

Not a single person running for statewide office who had the remotest connection with the Sharpstown scandals in the public mind—whether justified or not—survived.

An example of the way voters felt was the Gus Mutscher outcome. Former speaker of the Texas House, he was convicted in the Sharpstown case.

He tried for a political comeback—re-election to the House from the South Texas district where he was the political power.

Yet Saturday, the voters rejected him 11,127 to 8,623 and he carried only one of the six counties in his district.

Also defeated in the first primary May 6 or in the runoff Saturday were Gov. Preston Smith, who profited from the bank-loans-stock deals which were supposed to pave the way for the Sharpstown banking bills; Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who never could convince the voters he had nothing to do with the scandals; and Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin who rejected a chance to profit from the stock deals but apparently fell afoul of a voter mood to clean house in Austin.

Also out of the legislature were Rep. Tommy Shannon, convicted along with Mutscher; Rep. Rayford Price who became House Speaker when Mutscher stepped down from that job; Rep. Bill Finck, Price's appointee to the powerful chairmanship of the House Appropriations Committee; and Sen. Wayne Connally, who accepted about $3,000 deer lease money from figures in the Sharpstown scandals, something he called a routine lease transaction.

The final returns from the Texas Election Bureau, with no more counting expected in Saturday's second primary:

Democratic:
Senator: Rafee Sanders 1,003,184, Ralph Yarborough 925,943.

Governor: Dolph Briscoe 1,099,993, Frances Farenthold 887,665.

Lieutenant governor: Wayne Connally 848,192, Bill Hobby 1,091,106.

Comptroller: Robert S. Calvert 976,490, Jim Wilson 753,291.

Republican:
Governor: Henry Grover 40,655, Albert Fay 21,067.

The Southern governors agree "almost to a man," said Gov. Bob Scott of North Carolina, "that if McGovern receives the nomination it would be just almost a disaster for the South." But, he said, "it's a little late to be stopping him now."

The governors are here for the annual National Governors conference—a bipartisan meeting expected to be dominated this year by Democrats responding to the race for their party's presidential nomination.

Split on Problem of POWs

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

AP Political Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern disagree on the best way to get U.S. prisoners released by North Vietnam.

Humphrey wants President Nixon to send a special emissary to Hanoi, while McGovern says only a total U.S. withdrawal could get them out.

The POW issue, and Humphrey's contention—quickly denied—that McGovern's proposal for sharp defense spending cuts could leave Israel defenseless, were the chief points of disagreement Sunday as the two top presidential contenders met for their third televised confrontation.

As a result of a weekend court order, they were joined on the hour-long ABC program "Issues and Answers" by Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, New York Rep. Shirley Chisholm and Maj. Gen. Taylor Hardin, representing Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

That prompted Humphrey, trailing in several polls in Tuesday's California primary showdown, to suggest that he and McGovern buy time Monday night for a fourth meeting that would be a true debate between them, rather than a question-and-answer session with newsmen.

McGovern said he was willing to do it if his schedule permitted, then issued a Monday schedule that includes a visit to New Mexico, where a primary is also being held Tuesday, and calls for a late-night return to Los Angeles.

He also suggested the debate could be held before the June 20 New York primary.

In suggesting that a special emissary to Hanoi might settle the POW question, Humphrey said that President Nixon could send John B. Connally, the Texas Democrat who resigned as Nixon's secretary of the Treasury. McGovern said he doubted if "John Connally, who's been one of the foremost supporters of our involvement, is the right man to get us out."

go into the convention with 1,100 to 1,300 first-ballot delegates. It takes 1,509 to win.

Opposition to McGovern from Carter, Scott, Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas and others is based on the senator's liberal positions on numerous issues.

In announcing Saturday that he was withdrawing, Dyer made no other comment.

Anti-Busing Bill Nears Passage

By JOHN BECKLER

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A chief House sponsor of the Senate-passed $21.3-billion education bill predicts the massive measure with its restrictive busing provisions will be passed by the House this week.

The vote is scheduled for Thursday and although Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., thinks it will be close, he said he expects the House to send the bill to President Nixon.

The bill would combine the most-stringent limits Congress has ever placed on busing for the purpose of school desegregation with federal support for a wide range of education programs.

There is little opposition to the education provisions but the restrictions on busing have united backers and opponents of busing against the bill.

One group says the restrictions would slow desegregation; the other contends they are not severe enough.

The chief antibusing provision in the bill would postpone federal-court desegregation orders until all appeals have been exhausted, or until Jan. 1, 1974, when the legislation would lapse.

Two other provisions restricting use of federal and state funds for busing were much stronger when passed by the House originally, but were softened in the House-Senate compromise that is now up for a vote.

Headache Grows Worse

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan

(AP) — There's an old story about the man who goes into a drugstore and asks for acetylsalicylic acid.

"You mean aspirin?" the druggist responds.

"Never can remember that name," the customer observes. Pakistan plans to put a reverse twist on that by banning the manufacture and sale of medicines under familiar brand names. The Pakistanis with a headache would ask for acetylsalicylic acid. Attacked by what is known on the subcontinent as "Delhi belly," he would call—if there was time—for lodochlorhydroquin.

These are generic names, the labels scientists put on the drugs. According to manufacturers here, Pakistan would become the first country to ban completely the making and the selling of drugs under brand names. Some consumer advocates in the United States had suggested similar action there.

Political Arm of Schools for Pryor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The political education arm of the Arkansas Education Association has endorsed Rep. David Pryor in his quest for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. senate.

The Political Action for Education Committee of the AEA said Saturday that it was endorsing Pryor because of "his firm commitment to us in support of public education."

The organization said that during an interview with Pryor, the congressmen had documented 22 instances in the last six years in which the Senate incumbent, John I. McClellan, had voted against bills that were in the interest of education.

The group said an examination of voting records of the 91st Congress showed that McClellan voted against the best interests of education in five out of six important education bills while Pryor voted favorably five times on roll calls taken in connection with education bills and was not present for the other vote.

"The differences in the philosophies of the two candidates is obvious," PACE said. "For these reasons, Arkansas PACE strongly urges educators and those who value public education in Arkansas to support Congressman David Pryor."

Retrial on Shoplifting Ordered

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court ordered a new trial today of a malicious prosecution suit brought by a woman who had been accused of stealing a pair of cowboy boots from a Fayetteville store.

The Supreme Court ruling reversed a decision in Washington County Circuit Court in favor of Shoe Tree of Fayetteville Inc., R.L. Culppepper, his wife and their son, David.

The suit was brought by Alma Owens, who had been arrested for shoplifting on the basis of an affidavit signed by Culppepper, co-owner and manager of the store, claiming that she had stolen the boots. The charge remained pending from March 28, 1968 to Oct. 27, 1969 when it was dismissed for lack of prosecution.

The Supreme Court, in an opinion written by Associate Justice Frank Holt, found in reversing the case that Circuit Court Judge Maupin Cummings had erred in his instructions to the jury.

Sheik Mohammed Rashid, a Lahore lawyer who is health minister, said the government will not back down despite what he calls the pressure of "vested interests...coming out with flimsy pretexts...in a futile attempt to perpetuate the exploitation of the consumer in which they have freely indulged so far."

U.S. Deficit Cut 12.8 Billion From Original Forecast

Post Office Asks 78 Million Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Rate Commission today called for a $78.3-million reduction in postage rates proposed by the U.S. Postal Service.

The decision, first of its kind since the Post Office Department was reorganized in 1970, called for cutbacks in the Postal Service's proposed rates for parcel post, airmail letters, ordinary post cards and items handled by second-class mail-users, primarily magazine and newspaper publishers.

The commission, acting unanimously, overruled its chief hearing examiner in recommending that airmail fares be kept at 11 cents an ounce instead of the hearing examiner's proposed 13 cents and that ordinary post cards carry only 6 cents postage instead of the Postal Service's requested seven cents.

It estimated the savings alone on ordinary post cards at $25 million.

The Postal Rate Commission let stand the current temporary eight-cents-per-ounce charge for first-class mail.

For second-class mail-users, the commission urged the service to simplify its complex rate structure and recommended that the proposed 1.9 cent per piece cost be reduced to 1.6 cents, with the zone rate spread for advertising reduced from 11.8 cents to 9.9 cents between Zones 1 and 2 and Zone 8.

For parcel post it recommended there be no increase and that the cost remain at 21 cents for the first pound and 10 cents for each additional pound, a one-cent reduction from the Postal Service's recommended 22-cent and 11-cents rates.

The commission also urged that the third-class bulk mail rates proposed by the service be implemented immediately.

But Red Ink Total Still Is 26 Billion

By BILL NEIKIRK

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal deficit for fiscal 1972 will be an estimated $26 billion, highest since World War II, but $12.8 billion lower than predicted in January, the government said today.

The revised budget estimate came as the Nixon administration asked Congress to raise the national debt limit by $15 billion from the current $450 billion.

The deficit for fiscal 1973, estimated earlier at $25.5 billion will be about $27 billion, the Office of Management and Budget said in a report to Congress.

The federal financial situation has improved markedly since January because of increased tax collections resulting from over-withholding from paychecks.

The reason for the lower deficit is that the Treasury has collected more money than anticipated. This is due to congressional action changing income-tax tables effective this year, resulting in sharply higher amounts being withheld from pay checks.

The change was designed to eliminate traditional under-withholding for millions of taxpayers. And many people who are having too much deducted have not adjusted their withholding rates, despite pleas by the administration.

The deficit also will be smaller because no action has yet been taken on Nixon's revenue-sharing bill. The administration scheduled $2.2 billion for revenue-sharing in the budget for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The national debt now stands at almost $430 billion.

Sandra not her real name—said in an interview.

"My mother told me to have an abortion. The hospital told me to have an abortion. But I didn't want to kill my baby."

For saving her baby, Sandra credits the family of Robert J. Pearson, a building contractor who lost his antiabortion fight in the state legislature when Hawaii became the first state to make abortion legal and available practically on request.

In the first year after the law went into effect March 13, 1970, there were 3,643 abortions in Hawaii, and, unlike in New York, there is no substantial movement here to repeal the law.

But Pearson has continued his fight by inviting women contemplating abortion to travel to, live and continue their education at his 4½-acre residence until they have their babies all at no expense. Pearson and the antiabortion foundation he incorporated even pay for prenatal and delivery expenses.

"There are no obligations, no strings attached. We just want to show the girls there are alternatives to having abortion," Pearson said, adding that the women learn of his home through doctors, relatives and social agencies. Pearson estimates his fight has cost him personally some $20,000, but he plans an even larger investment—a $200,000 home accommodating 100 women. It will include recreation rooms and facilities for developing special skills as typing and shorthand, as well as academic training. "We want to help them get back on their feet," he said.

Pryor Offers McClellan TV Debate

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Congressman David Pryor said Sunday that he was preparing a format for a television debate with Sen. John L. McClellan.

Pryor said at Arkansas Boys State at Camp Robinson in North Little Rock that the debate proposal would be delivered to McClellan either Sunday night or early Monday.

Pryor and McClellan face each other in a runoff election for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat now held by McClellan.

McClellan had appeared before the boys Saturday night and when questioned said he would not accept a "blind challenge" for a debate. He said he had not talked with Pryor about such a debate, nor had he received the format for a debate.

"I not only think such a debate would be timely, but I think the people are entitled to see face to face on live television the responses to the issues in the election," Pryor said.

McClellan has said he supported the seniority system and Pryor was asked why he opposed such a system and if he had an alternative proposal.

Pryor said that the seniority system had outlived its usefulness. He proposed that a method be set up whereby a chairman of a committee, or the committee itself, can be challenged by the House or Senate if the chairman is not doing his job properly.

McClellan said Saturday night he opposed amnesty for draft evaders, the legalization of marijuana, gun control, foreign spending and busing to achieve racial balance in the schools.

He said he favored the death penalty in extreme cases and a nuclear arms moratorium and approved of President Nixon's handling of the war in Vietnam, although he said he opposed the war.

The senator repeated his statement that out-of-state labor leaders were helping Pryor.

In another development in the senatorial race, Ted Boswell said an allegation by McClellan that Boswell had attempted to "sell himself for what he thinks he is worth" was untrue.

McClellan had made the accusation after Boswell said that an intermediary for McClellan had offered to help pay off Boswell's campaign debts in return for an endorsement of the senator.

$200,000 Air Hijack Loot Recovered

ALGIERS (AP) — U.S. officials said today they plan to ask for the extradition of the Western Airlines plane hijacker as well as the $200,000 extorted from the airline.

They expressed the view that the chances were good for the return of the money but said it is less likely the Algerian government would agree to the return of the hijacker and his woman friend.

Both said they are members of the Black Panther party, which has an exile headquarters in Algeria.

One U.S. diplomat in Algiers said "normal procedures" would be undertaken soon for the return of the money and the hijacker and the woman. But he added no talks are as yet under way with the government.

The hijacker, identified as William Holder, 24, and his companion, identified as Mary Karkow, 20, have asked for political asylum in Algeria.

Another alleged hijacker, William Hahnemann, 49, was in a Florida jail after surrendering to U.S. Embassy officials in Honduras over the weekend.

He was charged with hijacking an Eastern Air Lines jetliner over Pennsylvania May 5 and parachuting with a $303,000 ransom over Central America. Federal authorities were seeking to remove him to Alexandria, Va.

The Nevada recovery of the $160,000 balance of a ransom given an air pirate was made Sunday. The hijacker jumped with that amount because he couldn't handle the entire $200,000 given him and left $40,000 on the plane.

Searchers found the money stashed in sagebrush in a remote area in the Reno vicinity.

Robb D. Heady, 22, a community college student and Vietnam veteran, was being held in lieu of $100,000 on air piracy charges in connection with the hijacking.

Third Fatal Accident Mars Transpo '72

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the Air Force's precision flying team, the Thunderbirds, has died in a fiery crash while performing for tens of thousands on the last day of the Transpo '72 exhibition.

The crash Sunday was the third fatal accident to mar the huge exhibit of air and ground transport systems at Dulles International Airport in the Virginia countryside outside Washington.

The pilot was identified as Maj. Joe Howard, 32, of Ablesville, N.C., a veteran of 322 combat missions in Southeast Asia including 69 over North Vietnam.

The team's five supersonic Phantom II jets were performing an exit maneuver when Howard's plane developed trouble at an altitude of 500 to 700 feet, officials said.

The swept-wing plane which can fly more than twice the speed of sound appeared to stop in midair, then rolled and drifted to the left. Moments before the plane struck ground, Howard's parachute appeared.

The $2.5 million plane exploded in a huge fireball and sent up a column of smoke. The heat was believed to have sucked the parachute into the blaze.

An Air Force spokesman said the crash's cause was not known and a board of officers would investigate.

On Saturday, the pilot of a small racing plane died after his craft and another hit during an air race. And, last Monday, a man fell to his death after losing control of a kite being launched by a car.

Despite Sunday's crash, the final day's events ran their course. Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said he has been asked by exhibitors about another giant exhibition in 1974.

Officials estimated that more than 1.4 million persons visited the exhibit, with the largest daily total—224,000—on the final day.

All comments about Transpo '72 were not favorable.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has called Transpo '72 a poorly planned waste of the $5 million in tax money spent for the exhibition.

people and the peace of the world would be diminished greatly.

Laird said the recent SALT agreements in Moscow will permit funding reductions for U.S. antiballistic missile (ABM) defensive systems.

"But funds for offensive systems in the fiscal 1973 budget will remain very much needed," he said.

Laird said the Trident, under present planning, would not be available before late 1978 or early 1979.

By that time he said the Soviet Union will have 90 Y class submarines while the United States will have 41.

He said there has been no change in the U.S. authorized ceiling since 1958.

Laird appeared in support of the administration's request for $780 million for the foreign military assistance program and $527 for foreign military sales.

The Senate subcommittee is headed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who asserted in advance that the Pentagon is using the summit-meeting accords signed in Moscow May 26 as an excuse to press new and expensive submarine and aircraft-weapons systems.

"If the movers and shakers of the military-industrial complex have their way, the military savings in the strategic arms-control agreement," SALT, will be as fleeting as the peace dividend.

Proxmire said in a prepared Senate speech today.

Computer Foulup Male Typist; He's Good

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — When a computer goof enrolled Harold Jones in an all-girl stenography class in high school, he made the best of it, scored an "A" and today is the only male stenographer for the California Legislature.

"He does a beautiful job," reports Madge Alberti, boss of the Assembly steno pool of 15 secretaries, all women until now. "He's very fast. He has a very pleasant personality. The girls just love him."

The computer foul-up occurred when Jones was a star hurdler on the Sacramento High School track team.

Passers-by do a double take when they see the lanky young man with a modish Afro and stylish bell bottom trousers at work in a sea of femininity.

"It's fun because there are a lot of girls," says Jones, admitting at the same time that he misses some masculine company.

Jones types 78 words per minute and takes dictation at 130 words per minute on a stenography machine.

"At first it was kind of tough because they were all watching me to see how I would do," he added. But once he proved he was a top-grade secretary, "the gossip just keeps on. You get to hear all their problems. And, like, if they buy cologne they've got to try it out on you. They pamper you sometimes."

That attention sometimes prompts teasing from his wife of one year, Andrea, he says.

"No reason a guy shouldn't be hired as a secretary, just because he's a guy," said John Burton, D-San Francisco, the assemblyman who was instrumental in getting Jones the $505-a-month job. "He's a qualified secretary."

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., visited with Alabama Gov. George Wallace in his hospital room Sunday.

Mills told newsmen afterwards that the nomination of Wallace for the vice presidency would be a definite asset for the Democrat ticket, "as far as the South is concerned."

Wallace and Mills are both candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mills said Sunday that Wallace had been able to widen his appeal. "There is no doubt that he has a following throughout the United States," he said.

Wallace has been in Holy Cross Hospital since May 15 when he was paralyzed when he was shot.

QUE SON, Vietnam (AP) — The North Vietnamese offensive has been slowed at Anloc. But the Que Son Valley south of Da Nang it moves relentlessly forward, and the South Vietnamese are still losing fire bases and villages.

"We are balanced on the knife's blade," said the Que Son district chief, Maj. Nguyen Cong Chinh, as he described the methodical 56-day enemy push that has captured one neighboring district, threatens another, and has Que Son in a stranglehold.

Chinh and his four American advisers are spending increasingly more of their time in a deep command bunker hopefully safe from the rockets and mortars that often rain in from the nearby hills.

Two regiments from the South Vietnamese 2nd Infantry Division are deployed around them. But there is nervousness in the air, and a sense of impending doom.

"The big enemy push has not come yet," one of the American advisers said. "They are just biting small chunks out of us day by day. Much more of this and we'll fall apart."

The Que Son valley is 40 miles south of Da Nang. It runs from the mountains inland across Highway 1 almost to the South China Sea. Because it is a natural infiltration route into the highly populated coast, the Communists have made a major military push through this valley every year since 1964.

This year is the biggest push with three infantry regiments totaling around 2,500 men, and they have made the greatest gains.

"They came right around behind us," Chinh said. "Now at least 800 Communist troops have cut our only road to the coast. They are in bunkers 15 feet deep. Nothing of ours has moved along the road in two weeks."

An American adviser explained that the North Vietnamese were initially thought to be aiming at Route 1, which links Da Nang with the populous provinces south of it. But the enemy surprised everyone by suddenly cutting off Que Son at the valley entrance.

Allied with the push through Hiep Duc to Que Son has been a parallel enemy thrust into Thanh Binh district adjoining Que Son to the south.

sand or has not dispatched one of its children to discharge his national duties," wrote chief editor Moussa Sabry in the newspaper Al Akhbar.

The Star of David flag is clearly visible from the Egyptian positions at Port Tewfik, at the southern end of the canal. Nearby U.N. observers, bare chested in the heat with blue baseball caps on their heads, maintain a quiet watch.

The possibility of a new conflict, shattering the cease-fire of August 1970, is stronger today than it was a year ago, when Egypt pinned its hopes on Washington after Secretary of State William P. Rogers visited Cairo.

Rogers supported President Anwar Sadat's proposal to reopen the canal in exchange for a substantial Israeli pullback and a promise to withdraw eventually from all occupied territory. But the Israelis dug in, refusing to give up their chief bargaining card, and air conditioned their bunkers on Egyptian soil.

The Arabs lost faith in the Egyptians.

Egyptians, officially and privately, agree they would prefer a peaceful solution to losing more of their fathers, husbands, sons and brothers in another desert war. But they cannot tolerate the idea of making peace while a third of their country is occupied. An official of the Foreign Ministry commented recently:

"If the Americans were unable to withdraw from South Vietnam for so many years because it would have been difficult for Washington to explain the move to the thousands of families who lost their men in that far off land, how can they expect us to make peace when so many of our men died fighting Israel and she still occupies our territory?"

President Anwar Sadat has repeatedly refused to sit down with the Israelis to talk peace while their soldiers are on Egyptian soil. He argues that such a meeting would be tantamount to surrender.

Sadat expressed his anger at Washington's continuing to arm Israel by ordering the U.S. diplomatic mission in Cairo reduced by half.

The Egyptians are fed up with the continuing state of no war and no peace.

Sanders Proves He Can Still Play

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — There was just a trace of a smile around the lips as Doug Sanders announced in obvious but restrained delight: "I've proved I can still play. And I've proved I can still win. You can't imagine what a wonderful feeling it is."

The dapper guy had just scored a dramatic, one-stroke victory over Lee Trevino with a long birdie putt on the final hole of the $175,000 Kemper Open Sunday, confounding the critics who had written his golfing obituaries scores of times.

He'd been derided for his admitted playboy attitude toward life, complete with late hours and liquor. Purists said his unorthodox, short swing would fail him with his advancing years. He lost his exempt status when he failed to play well enough to make the top 60 money winners last season. He hadn't won in two years.

His 19th career victory, worth $35,000 and a congratulatory telephone call from sometimes

Amarillo switched pitchers three times in the seventh and again in the eighth while Memphis traded hurlers once in the seventh and again in the eighth.

Alexandria picked up two runs in the seventh to take a 9-2 win over Midland. The two runs came on two hits, a walk and a sacrifice. In the eighth, Alexandria picked up another four runs on a two-RBI single by Ulysses Wilson, while a walk and a single with the bases loaded produced two more.

El Paso squeezed out a 1-0 win over Shreveport when Lee Lacy singled, went to second on SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The victory of the University of Pennsylvania's varsity eight-oared crew in the 70th national intercollegiate rowing championships was a logical step for the Quakers, Coach Ted Nash says.

New Names Pop Up In NCAA Action

By DAN BERGER
Associated Press Sports Writer
EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — John Smith's return to health cleared up the Olympic 400-meter dash picture somewhat but the main result of last weekend's NCAA track and field championships was the number of new names that popped up as winners.

Smith, UCLA's boy wonder two years ago when he won the national AAU title, was last year's NCAA king before contracting the weakening illness hepatitis. The disease, if not caught in its early stages, usually keeps its victims in bed for months.

But Smith is no average fellow. The muscular senior was up within a month. He stayed on a training routine early in the year and his midseason times did not approach his world record for 440 yards of 44.5.

When he stepped off the Hayward Field track at the University of Oregon Saturday he had the NCAA title for a second straight year.

Smith's 10 points in the 400 and his 45.0 inch leg on the relay team helped UCLA pull in a six-boat field, Nash said after the Penn triumph on Onondaga Lake Saturday.

The record books Nash up: the Penn oarsmen rebounded from the sprints by beating Northeastern for the Burk Cup, taking the Madeira Cup from Cornell and scoring a clear-cut victory in a tournament qualifying heat here Thursday.

The senior-dominated Penn crew shot to the front at the outset of the 2,000-meter title race and high-stroked its way to a nearly boatlength victory over Brown in 6 minutes, 22.8 seconds.

Brown, which made the title line-up after winning a repechage (second chance) qualifier Friday, was timed in 6:26.1, a half-second faster than third-place Wisconsin. Washington, defending champion Cornell and Northeastern trailed.

Wisconsin won the Jim Ten Eyck Memorial Trophy for the best overall showing in the three eight-oared events raced Saturday. The Badger freshmen won by a length over Cornell in 6:19.8, while the junior varsity was scant inches and .2 second behind the tip of the Washington shell, which won in 6:18.8.

Hydroplane Racer Dies

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gerald J. Waldman, 47, of Brown Deer, Wis., national hydroplane racing champion, was injured fatally Saturday in a collision between two boats during hydroplane races on Lake Catherine.

Officials said Waldman's craft struck a boat driven by Jerry Peterson of Des Moines, Iowa, a former national champion.

Peterson's boat had overturned, throwing him free of the accident, officials said.

Waldman died at a Hot Springs hospital about an hour after the accident. He was director of marine sales for the A.C. spark plug division of General Motors Corp.

Orioles Gather Goose Eggs In Twin Bill

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
They don't call the Baltimore Orioles the O's for nothing; they got 18 of them Sunday.

You know—zeroes, goose eggs, O's. The Orioles got nine of them—000 000 000—in the first game of Sunday's double-header against Oakland and nine more—000 000 000—in the nightcap.

The A's got 16 O's themselves but had the presence of mind to score twice in the first inning of each game en route to a 2-0, 2-0 sweep of the beleaguered Orioles. The double defeat dropped Baltimore's three-inning American League champs into third place in the East Division, three games behind Detroit and one percentage point in back of Cleveland.

Elsewhere, the Tigers blanked Minnesota 3-0, the Indians turned back California 6-1, the Chicago White Sox took a part in the New York Yankees' 5-1 and 5-4, Boston defeated Kansas City 4-0 after 11 innings, the pitcher 7-5 and the Sox struck Milwaukee 10-0.

with a very slightly aiding wind of 4.6 miles an hour. Woods, the Oregon State upset star, flopped 7-3¼ in the high jump equal to the national freshman mark held by Cal's Clarence Johnson.

Edmondson was California's junior college sprint champ three years ago at Merritt College in Oakland. Today, after two years of near-misses, the UCLA senior is college king and holder of the NCAA 100-meter record at 10.0.

Carol Mann Scores Two-Stroke Triumph

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—To hear her describe it, Carol Mann's two-stroke triumph in the Lady Carling open golf tournament was "unequivocally, the greatest victory" she has ever scored.

She did it in dramatic fashion Sunday before nearly 8,000 hometown fans at the Pine Ridge course.

Locked in a head-to-head battle with veteran Kathy Whitworth, Miss Mann tied the course record with a six-under par 67 to roll up a nine-under par 54-hole total of 210.

Three times in the last five years, Miss Mann had finished a bitterly disappointing second. And each time she could point to the hole where she blew the championship.

"I thought about every one of them out there," she confessed after finishing ahead of Miss Whitworth, who shot a second

Allison Wins Stock Car Race

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
Bobby Allison says race drivers must stay busy or they go stale. Bobby Unser agrees.

Winning also helps to keep the ego above water and the two Bobbys did it in grand style Sunday.

Allison drove a Chevrolet to victory by more than a mile over superstar Richard Petty in the Mason-Dixon 500-mile stock car race at Dover, Del. It was Allison's 37th start in a race car this season and his 11th triumph, four of them major ones.

Unser, who like Allison is 37 years old, beat Indianapolis champion Mark Donohue across the finish line by four seconds to capture the Rex Mays 150 for United States Auto Club championship cars at Milwaukee.

Allison's average speed was 118.679 m.p.h., Unser's 109.139 m.p.h.

In other weekend auto races, Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil drove a Lotus to victory in the Belgium Grand Prix and took a solid grip on the 1972 world driving title. He now had 28 points to 19 for New Zealander Denis Hulme, who came in third Sunday behind Francois Cedert of France.

Milt Minter led from start to finish to give Pontiac's Firebird its first victory in the Sports Car Club of America's Trans-Am series for sports sedans at the Mid-Ohio course near Lexington. George Follmer, who had won the two previous David Hobbs of England wheeled a Lola T-300 to victory in both 25-mile heats of a race for SCCA Formula 5,000 machines at Edmonton, Alberta. Allen Lader was second overall and Graham McRae of Australia third.

Allison, surely one of the busiest race drivers in America, started his Chevrolet in second place at Dover and during the grueling 500 laps exchanged the lead with chief rival Petty 11 times.

Near the end, however, the transmission started failing in Petty's Plymouth and Allison was able to put a full lap of the one-mile oval between himself and stock car racing's only $1 million winner.

Third place went to LeeRoy Yarbrough in a Ford, fourth to Britisher Jackie Oliver in a Mercury and fifth to John Sears in a Plymouth. The latter three were a t least 13 miles behind the two leaders.

The Milwaukee race was held up for 45 minutes when Johnny Rutherford's Michener Petroleum Special crashed into the wall, spraying fuel and debris across the track. Rutherford escaped with minor burns.

Donohue's teammate, Gary Bettenhausen, came in third in a Roger Penske McLaren, DRUMMONDVILLE, Que (AP) — Gilles Leclerc, 25, a former hockey player with several Canadian and U.S. Teams died Sunday when his car overturned near this community, 75 miles northeast of Montreal.

Hundley Bats Homer; Pittsburgh Sweeps Pair

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was the best of times for Chicago's Randy Hundley, and the worst of times, too. He broke San Diego's back—and one of its bats. And he broke the back of a Cubs rally—and had a bat of his own broken in return.

The Chicago catcher, struggling to get his batting average back up to respectability and give second-string backstop Ken Rudolph a permanent seat on the bench, swatted his first home run in nearly a year and a half Sunday.

It couldn't have come at a better time because it broke a tie and sent the Cubs on the way to a 3-1 victory over the Padres.

Then, in the ninth inning, he slammed a hot grounder at shortstop Rafael Robles. And it couldn't have come at a worse time because Robles converted it into a triple play.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh swept a pair from San Francisco, 4-3 and 9-1. Atlanta dumped the New York Mets 9-3. St. Louis defeated Los Angeles 4-0. Cincinnati stopped Philadelphia 2-0 and Houston whipped Montreal 5-0.

"I was just trying to hit the ball," Hundley said of the Bill Greif pitch that wound up in the left field stands.

Hundley, all but sidelined by knee problems, is batting a meager .198 with just 11 runs batted in.

"To show you how things are going for me," he said of the triple play, "the third baseman is charging in, expecting a bunt, and the shortstop is supposed to break to cover third. But he didn't move and I hit the ball right at him." Robles snared it, tagged Carmen Franzone as he ran by, then threw to second for a force on Jose Cardenal and Derrel Thomas wheeled and fired to first to retire Hundley.

Early in the game, Thomas hit a Ferguson Jenkins pitch, then let go of his bat, which struck Hundley in the knee. "I took his bat and hit the ground with it and it broke. I didn't mean to do it."

Later, Hundley bunted and was tossed out by Fred Kendall. Then the San Diego catcher, on instructions from Manager Don Zimmer, broke Hundley's bat.

The Pirates, winning their sixth game in the last eight, slashed the Mets' East Division lead to 3½ games. The Cubs, who have won seven of nine, are six games off the pace.

Willie Stargell, who had four RBIs in the second game against the Giants, said the Pirates "don't think about the Mets until we play them. There's nothing you can do about their games so there's no point in worrying about it."

After eighth-inning singles by Manny Sanguiller, Vic Davalillo and Al Oliver and Milt May's sacrifice fly gave Pittsburgh the two runs it needed to win the opener, Bruce Kison limited San Francisco to three hits in the nightcap while the Bucs got 16 of their own.

Darrell Evans led Atlanta's 12-hit assault against four New York pitchers that saddled six-game winner Jon Matlack with his first defeat. Evans clubbed a two-run double and a three-run homer.

It was Old-Timer's Day in Los Angeles and 36-year-old Bob Gibson celebrated with a five-hitter, the 52nd shutout of his career and second in a row.

The Reds, edging within half a game of the first-place Dodgers in the West with their seventh straight victory, got everything they needed on Johnny Bench's first-inning two-run double. It was enough to hand the Phils their eighth straight loss and 18th in 19 games.

Don Wilson pitched a two-hitter for the Astros and Cesar Cedeño broke a scoreless deadlock with an eighth-inning homer before Houston struck for four insurance runs in the ninth to tame the Expos.

Americans Add Life To British Tourney

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SANDWICH, England (AP) — American golfers didn't do too well in this year's British Amateur Championship, but they were still a vital part of the scene.

"We couldn't do without the Americans," said an official of the Royal St. George's Club which staged the event. They bring this tournament to life.

"Just watch the interest when a good British player and a good American are paired against each other. A match like that always attracts the biggest gallery."

The championship ended Saturday with an all-English final. Trevor Homer, 28, who never had previously won a major tournament, defeated Alan Thirlwell, 43, by 4 and 3 over 36 holes.

The tournament started with 43 Americans. Only four of them reached the last 32 and only two—Kemp Richardson of Huntington Beach, Calif., and Dick Siderowf of Westport, Conn.—made the last 16. Richardson then reached the quarter-finals, where he was beaten by Thirlwell.

Often the Americans played the wrong kind of chip shot to a green. They chipped high as they do at home—and the ball got carried by the wind into sand traps or deep rough.

The British do it a different way. They chip low and let the ball run on to the green. American players found the greens much faster than any they knew at home.

ABA Looks For New Home

NEW YORK (AP) — In an attempt to solidify its league, the American Basketball Association is seeking new sites for its financially troubled Pittsburgh and Miami franchises.

New York Nets President Roy Roe announced Sunday.

Boe said the ABA is considering Chicago, St. Louis, Anaheim, Connecticut and Upper New York State as possible new locations for the two teams.

Boe and Ted Munchak, owner of the Carolina Cougars, have formed a two-man committee to screen and interview applicants to replace ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph, who announced his resignation last week.

Regarding the shifting of franchises, Boe said "I am confident we will merge with the NBA. However, until we do, we want to solidify our league as much as possible."

Meanwhile, the Greensboro Daily News said the NBA would cease to exist after the NBA meetings June 5-16.

Citing an unidentified source, the Daily News said Munchak has been meeting with NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy and they have reached an agreement to allow six or seven ABA clubs to join the NBA.

The agreement is expected to be ratified by NBA owners when they meet in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the paper said.

However, the Daily News reported the Pittsburgh and Miami franchises will be dropped and the Denver franchise will be placed in limbo for several years until a new arena is constructed.

NHL Opens Draft Meetings

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

MONTREAL (AP) — The spectre of the ambitious new World Hockey Association hung over the established National Hockey League as it opened its summer draft meetings today.

There are indications that the new kids on the block are starting to get on the NHL's nerves. And the first effects of the lead of WHA signings which have been announced over the last month are expected to start showing up here.

Obviously, a player who has announced his intentions of moving to the new league and has signed a contract with the WHA will not be protected by his NHL club in the draft here.

But if a player is left unprotected, another club could draft him and own the NHL rights to him should he decide to return to the established league. And it is entirely possible that some players will utilize the absence of an option clause in the WHA contracts to return to the NHL at some future date.

The WHA has yet to hire any superstar from the NHL, although Bobby Hull's name is being bandied about by the Winnipeg people. The Chicago left winger has said that if the WHA produces the right amount of money—$1 million for sign and another $1 million for four years—he'll jump.

If a club takes a chance and drafts a player who doesn't report, there is no compensation clause.

That's not a very stable footing for teams such as the New York Islanders and Atlanta who must stock their franchises at these meetings. It cost each $6 million to join the NHL—and in New York's case $4 million more in indemnification charges to the Rangers for invading their territory.

Is It Better to Be a 'Has Been' or a 'Never Was'?

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Howard Kitt never made it to the major leagues, which may have been the best thing to ever happen to him.

In the fall of 1960, at age 18, he was signed off the Long Island sandlots by the New York Yankees for a figure in excess of $60,000, still one of the highest bonuses ever tendered by the Yanks.

He was a left-handed pitcher who struck out hitters with mechanical frequency. He can still recall headlines, "Strikeout Whiz Kitt," and he can still remember all those laudatory words, like Yankee manager Ralph Houk, in Florida spring training of 1961, saying that Kitt's name comes to mind first when he thinks of his hard throwers.

"And you know, one pitcher in that camp was named Ryne Duren," says Kitt. "The Yankees were the Bronx Bombers in those days, and Kitt intellectually reasoned that he had little chance of sticking with the big-league team."

"However," he says today, "I romanticized that Whitey Ford was getting older and the Yanks would be needing a left-hander soon. It might not be me, but then again, why not?" And he dreamed of another headline: "Young Phenom Makes Club."

It wasn't to be. In the next five years, the 6-3, 190-pounder would pitch for Modesto, Amarillo, Greensboro, Richmond, Augusta, Columbus (Ga.), Binghamton. He would develop bursitis in his arm and lose the fast ball that Ken Harrelson, at Modesto in 1961, said was even faster than another pitcher in that league, Sam McDowell.

Howard Kitt had also been a good student. In off-season he studied economics at Hofstra University and eventually graduated cum laude. After his fifth season in professional baseball, he decided that he was stagnating, having dropped from Triple A ball to Double A.

He recalled some of the guys he had played with along the way, who "had mud thrown in their faces" yet stuck in the minors despite being released from one team and hanging on by fingernails with another.

Columbia University offered Kitt a fellowship in economics in 1965 and he accepted. He gave up baseball and his big-league dreams. He is now a thesis away from a Ph.D. has taught economics at Hofstra and is currently a consultant for the prestigious New York consulting firm of National Economic Research Associates.

He is aware, of course, of some of the pro ball players—the "Boys of Summer"—who struggle in retirement, having known little but baseball all their lives.

"Maybe that would have happened to me, too, if I had gone on to the major leagues," says Kitt. "I don't know. But since my career was kind of shaky, I began to read more widely and be-

Billie King Wins French Tourney

PARIS (AP) — Billie Jean King avenged an earlier defeat and won the only major crown that has eluded her when she defeated Evonne Goolagong 6-3, 6-3 and captured the women's singles title Sunday at the French Open Tennis Championships.

It was her first triumph after six years of competition in this tournament, rated as the world clay court championship, and avenged her loss to Miss Goolagong in the final at Wimbledon last year.

Mrs. King said after the match that both she and Miss Goolagong aimed for their opponent's forehead and that she was attempting to keep the Australian away from the net.

In a dozen years on the international circuit, Mrs. King has won the Wimbledon title three times, the U.S. championship twice and the Italian, German, Australian, South African, Irish, Argentine and Austrian crowns.

Miss Goolagong, who won the French title last year, had won every set this year in her matches through the semi-finals.

The key game of the match, Mrs. King said, was the third game of the second set when she fell behind 0-40 on her own service, evened it at 40-all with a drop shot and volley and then got a service winner.

She broke Miss Goolagong's service in the first game of the first set and again broke her opponent in the ninth game.

The triumph earned Mrs. King, who has been ranked No. 1 in the United States for two years, $4,000 while Miss Goolagong, ranked No. 2, collected $2,000.

People who test drive a Plymouth, buy a Plymouth.

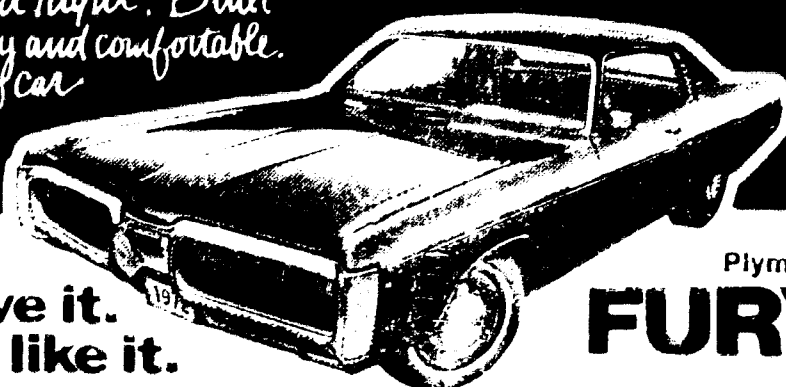

Here's why:

"We decided to fit a car to our family. The Chevy I put it on and it didn't fit. The Ford didn't fit. After our first getting into the Plymouth there was just no comparison. People who test drive a Plymouth would buy one... I really mean it."

"I don't buy a car just for myself. I got a wife 3 kids and a dog. I looked at Fords and Chevys. I just prefer the Plymouth. It's roomier. Dependable. It's my seventh Chrysler product in 9 years."

Some cars just seem to fit a family. Like the '72 Plymouth Fury. It's priced right. Built strong. Runs reliably. It's roomy and comfortable. We think that's the kind of car people really want.

Drive it. You'll like it.

Asks Return Of Freedom Ramsom

ALGIERS (AP) — The United States is trying to get the Algerian government to return the $500,000 in ransom given to the American who hijacked a Western Airlines jetliner to Algiers over the weekend.

The United States has asked for the money, and "we're still trying," a State Department spokesman in Washington said Sunday.

The hijacker, a black identified as William Holder, 24, seized one of the line's smaller jetliners Saturday during a flight from Los Angeles to Seattle. He freed half the 98 passengers when the plane landed at San Francisco, then ordered the rest aboard one of the line's intercontinental-range Boeing 720s and had it flown to New York. The other passengers were freed unharmed in New York, and the plane flew to Algiers.

Holder was accompanied by a blonde girl identified as Mary Karkow, 20. They reportedly said they belong to the Black Panthers.

Holder asked for political asylum, and sources said President Houari Moummedienne would personally decide whether to grant it.

The hijacker also said he was going to use the $500,000 ransom paid him "for a big cause," Capt. William E. Newell of San Francisco, co-pilot of the hijacked plane, told newsmen after returning the plane to Los Angeles Sunday.

Newell, 48, said he knew of no demand to free Angela Davis, the black Communist who was found innocent of murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges two days after the hijacking. The chief of security at Seattle-Tacoma Airport said Saturday the hijacker demanded Miss Davis freedom as part of his ransom package.

McClellan Refuses Offer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Women's Political Caucus proposed to sponsor a television show with Congressman David Pryor and Sen. John McClellan answering the questions but they were turned down by McClellan.

McClellan aides said Sunday the senator could not appear on the show because of previous commitments. Pryor had accepted the invitation.

But What a Car

No. 26,000 Used Auto

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — An Arkansas Traveler has paid $26,000 for a used car, and a 16-year-old one at that.

Jess Odom's bid on a 1956 Rolls Royce Silver Wraith, once owned by British actor Laurence Harvey, was the highest of James C. Leake's rare auto auction conducted here Sunday. Leake, who owns television stations in Arkansas and Oklahoma, said it was the "top price paid in the U.S.A. for this body style Rolls."

Odom is the owner of Dogpatch, U.S.A. of Arkansas, and lives in Little Rock. He is opening an auto museum at Dogpatch and brought nine cars Sunday for a total of $59,550. He was the top spender.

But Odom said the rare Rolls may not always be in his museum. The car is in perfect condition and Odom intends to show it off.

Leake raised $363,182 from the sale of 74 of his autos in a seven-hour auction conducted by Sotheby, Parke-Bernet, of Los Angeles.

Edward Landrigan II, President of the firm and the auctioneer, said, "It was the largest most successful antique auto auction held in the United States and the largest ever by a single owner."

Leake's auto museum here can accommodate only 70 automobiles and he had 189 before the action. Only three that he placed for sale did not draw bids.

Odom was in earnest about his new auto museum at Dogpatch. He dove into the bidding on an immaculate 1938 Packard limousine and said—at the beginning $1,000 bid made by a competitor—"Let's get serious. I'll make it $5,000."

And he bought it at $9,750. Odom also paid $3,800 for a huge 1955 doubledecker bus from England. He will use it to transport Dogpatch visitors around the grounds.

Environment Conference Opens

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD Associated Press Writer STOCKHOLM (AP) — The first United Nations conference on man's environment opened today with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim branding armaments as "the ugliest of all pollutants."

In a speech welcoming delegates from 112 countries, Waldheim urged the world to "actively reduce and ultimately suppress...the armaments pollution."

Arms questions were not on the agenda of the conference, which is expected to establish a new U.N. agency to coordinate the fight against the world's self-destruction. But the secretary-general made them the central theme of his address.

Unless a substantial portion of the sums now spent for military purposes are diverted elsewhere, he said, "we shall not be able to overcome the staggering problems of poverty, population, pollution, the widening development gap and the host of other problems that confront the nations and peoples of the world."

The new agency could be at work early next year, Maurice Strong, conference secretary general, told newsmen Sunday.

Last-minute efforts were reported under way to gain Soviet bloc participation in the conference, organized under a 1968 U.N. General Assembly resolution.

The Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria announced recently they would boycott the Stockholm meeting because East Germany, not a member of the United Nations or any of its specialized agencies, was offered only observer status. But U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said the issue was still being discussed with the Communists, and he was confident the Soviet Union would come after all.

Strong, a Canadian, said countries not at Stockholm still would have the opportunity to express their views on the conference recommendations at the U.N. General Assembly next fall. He said the Soviet government had participated constructively in preparations for the conference and he was not aware that it had any major differences with other countries in the environmental field.

Delegates are to act upon a declaration of principle that nations are responsible for the effects of their environmental activities on other nations.

A plan of specific measures to provide "earthwatch" warnings of dangerous trends and combat pollution on an international scale.

For Acquittal in Davis Case From Start

By EDITH LEDEBER Associated Press Writer SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) —

The jurors who acquitted Angela Davis on murder-kidnap-conspiracy charges had no major disagreements on her innocence from the start of their deliberations, the forewoman said.

Mary Timothy revealed the lack of discord while attending a festive party celebrating Sunday's verdict. A Mexican-American on the jury said he related to defense arguments about the persecution of blacks.

Another source said the all-white jury voted at least three times before handing in its verdict. On the first ballot, taken Friday afternoon shortly after they began deliberating, the jurors voted nine for acquittal and three undecided. There were no votes for conviction during the balloting, the source said.

Hysterical sobs of joy intermingled with shrieks of happiness in the courtroom when the verdict was returned.

Miss Davis wept quietly, tears streaming down her cheeks.

She was found innocent of engineering the bloody Aug. 7, 1970, Marin County courthouse escape attempt in which a judge, two convicts and their accomplice were slain. She had spent 16 months in jail before she was freed on $102,500 bail five days before the trial began Feb. 28.

The tall, black Communist hugged and kissed members of the seven-woman, five-man jury when they met for the first time at a news conference shortly after the verdict was announced.

"This is the happiest day of my life," she told a crowd of 300 supporters outside the courthouse who had been chanting: "The power of the people—it set Angela free."

The jubilant Miss Davis declared the acquittal "a people's victory"—not a triumph for American justice.

At a private post-verdict party, the lone Mexican-American on the jury, Louis Franco, told attorneys he was moved by the defense's final arguments, which centered on persecution of blacks in America for centuries.

Franco said he related it to the problems of Mexican-Americans.

Prosecutor Albert Harris Jr., an assistant state attorney general, declined comment on the verdict.

During the private celebration at the home of friends here, Miss Davis toasted her acquittal and the jurors with champagne.

All but three of the jury members showed up at the private party, and Miss Davis told The Associated Press that the jurors received her warmly and brought along their husbands and wives to meet her.

Rock Hudson Injured

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Actor Rock Hudson suffered minor cuts and bruises when his antique car crashed into a tree and a wall.

The mishap occurred Sunday while Hudson was making a trial run in the car, a 1900 steam-operated Locomobile, in preparation for a scene for the movie "Showdown."

Skyjacker Turns Self In

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — William Hahneman, a middle-aged engineer charged with a $303,000 international skyjack, sat in a Dade County jail cell awaiting a removal hearing today.

Federal authorities said they wanted to remove the graying, 49-year-old man to Alexandria, Va.

Hahneman had turned himself in to U.S. embassy officials in Honduras.

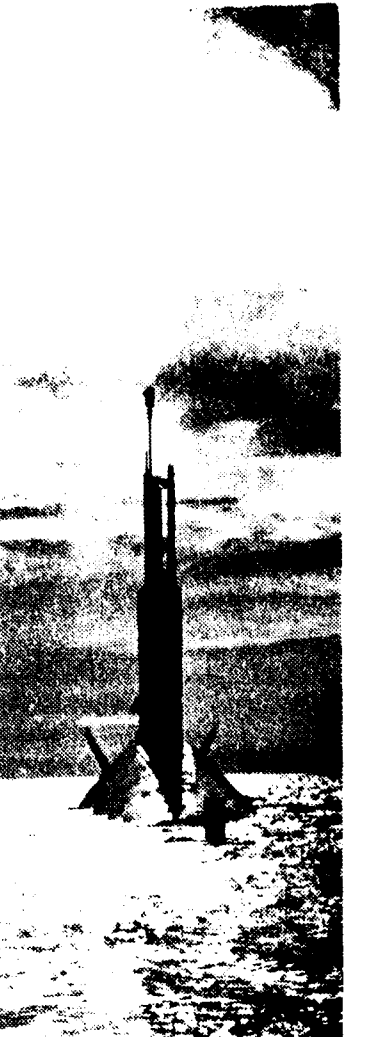

He is charged in connection with the May 5 hijack of an Eastern jetliner over Pennsylvania that picked up $303,000 ransom at Washington's Dulles International Airport before heading for Central America.

The man who collected the ransom parachuted over Honduras, authorities said.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "Some apparently simple hands offer a choice of plays right at the start. Sometimes all will work. Other times all will fail. When only one will work, it is important to choose it."

Jim: "Here is a case in point. West makes his normal lead of the jack of spades. The four-spot is played from dummy and East drops the deuce. South is in with the ace and must make a decision."

Oswald: "If spades are 6-1 he is not likely to make the hand so the first thing South does is to ignore that possibility. This leaves him two lines of play. The first is to go right after trumps. If East holds the ace of clubs nothing is going to hurt South. If West holds the ace of clubs and East gets in with either the ace of trumps or by means of a diamond lead from his partner the trump play won't succeed. East will lead a club and South will lose two clubs tricks."

Jim: "South can do something about those potential club losers before leading trumps. He can try to cash dummy's king and queen of spades for a club discard."

Oswald: "If East started with just two spades, East will ruff the third lead. South will overruff and still be able to make the hand if the ace of clubs is in the right spot. The spade plays would only cost him if the opening had been a doubleton."

Jim: "A good South will decide the discard attempt is the superior play and will be rewarded this time."

Lieut. Gov. Takes Over in Alabama

By KENDAL WEAVER

Associated Press Writer
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Jere Beasley assumed the mantle of Alabama chief executive today and said he regretted having to take the post under the circumstances.

Beasley arrived at his regular office this morning just a few hours after he was notified that he must act for Gov. George C. Wallace until the hospitalized governor returns to the state.

Today is a state holiday, but Beasley said he would spend most of it "coordinating my office with the governor's."

Beasley, 35, became acting governor under the state Constitution, which provides for the lieutenant governor to step up when the governor has been out of state for 20 consecutive days. Wallace was shot May 15 in Laurel, Md., while campaigning for the Democratic nomination for the presidency. Since then he has been recuperating in Holy Cross Hospital in Silver Spring, Md. The 21st day of his absence began at 12:01 a.m. today.

Shortly after they took office in 1971, Beasley found himself opposed to the governor in matters before the legislature and Wallace responded by having Beasley's state trooper taken away from him.

Wallace also lifted Beasley's $1,500 monthly allowance, leaving him with the $300 monthly salary he gets as president of the Senate. All Alabama legislators get the $300 allowance.

Nat'l Average Represents Busy Weekend for Some

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Did you make more than 779 local and long-distance phone calls last year? Then you were above the national average, that is, if every man, woman, and child used the phone equally. But of course 779 calls represents only a busy weekend for a hyperactive teenager.

One of the things that makes the estimate by store detectives that one out of every 16 customers is a shoplifter.

Malnutrition in the elderly, caused by eating too much sugar and other empty calorie foods, often leads to alcoholism. "Let no more than 10 per cent of the calories you consume day by day be 'empty' or 'empty' calories," warns University of Texas biochemist Dr. Roger J. Williams. "If 90 per cent of the calories one consumes are in the form of wholesome food, malnutrition will never become a rule of life, and individuals will never pass through the 'period of preparation' (drinking) which is the sine qua non of becoming an alcoholic."

Quotable notables: "Science without religion is lame; religion without science is blind."—Albert Einstein.

Rebirth: Figuratively speaking, it is possible for the meek, self-effacing middle-age man to turn himself into a tiger. The answer is physical fitness. Tests by a Purdue University research team found that after four months of physical conditioning middle-age men tended to improve their personalities by becoming more self-confident, extroverted and emotionally stable.

Worth remembering: "These days the girls don't marry a man to reform him. They simply want to get in on the fun themselves."

Will the good new days ahead be as good as the good old days before? Well, it will take more money to pay for them if they are. Economic forecasters predict that a man who made $10,000 a year in 1970 will have to earn nearly $60,000 to live as well in the year 2000. Better start rolling up your sleeves now.

Folklore: If you cut your nails on Saturday, you'll go on

Bridges Near China Are Knocked Out

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Eight U.S. Air Force jets streaked to within 50 miles of the Chinese border Sunday and demolished twin bridges on Hanoi's north-west rail line to China with five 2,000-pound laser-guided bombs, military spokesmen said today.

U.S. military sources said other bridges on both the north-west and northeast rail lines linking to China have not been hit and they would be attacked in the future.

Both bridges hit were about 85 miles northwest of Hanoi. Meanwhile, a seventh aircraft carrier, the Ticonderoga, joined the 7th Fleet and will arrive off the coast of Vietnam within a week, U.S. military sources said.

The sources said the mission of the newest naval recruit for the Vietnam War is to "hunt and kill submarines."

Navy planes from other carriers in the Tonkin Gulf kept up their attacks Sunday on war materials moving along rivers in North Vietnam and against other parts of the North Vietnamese transportation network.

The U.S. Command announced that a Marine F4 Phantom was lost while supporting South Vietnamese troops encircled at Phu My, on the central coast of South Vietnam. The two crewmen were killed, the command said.

South Vietnamese spokesmen at Pleiku said North Vietnamese troops had been cleared from Kontum, in the central highlands, except for an area of about 1,000 square yards on the northern side of the city.

On the northern front, the Saigon command reported fighting on two sides of Fire Base Bastogne, 12 miles southwest of Hue and the standoff continued at An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon.

Rocket Kills 2 in Strike in Cambodia

By ROBIN MANNOCK

Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A rocket blasted the Cambodian Defense Ministry today, killing three persons and wounding 10 others. Other rockets landed near the villa of President Lon Nol, killing three girls and wounding one person.

The attack on the Defense Ministry was the first daylight rocket assault on the Cambodian capital in more than two years of war. One rocket scored a direct hit on the third floor.

The president's villa on the southwestern edge of the city was the target of a number of rocket attacks. One slammed into a house 30 yards from the villa's garden fence, killing the three girls.

The Defense Ministry attack sent terrified workers, many of them women soldiers, fleeing from the building.

The attack came as ballots were being counted from Cambodia's first presidential election.

Incomplete unofficial returns from the voting Sunday gave Marshal Lon Nol a smaller portion of the vote than had been predicted and a surprisingly large vote was going to a dark horse who campaigned for the return of the former chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Broadcasting partial results from Phnom Penh and eight provinces, the national radio said Lon Nol had received 332,214 votes, or 51.17 per cent of the ballots counted so far. A majority is needed to win, but the government newspaper had predicted the marshal would get 60 per cent. This is Cambodia's first presidential election.

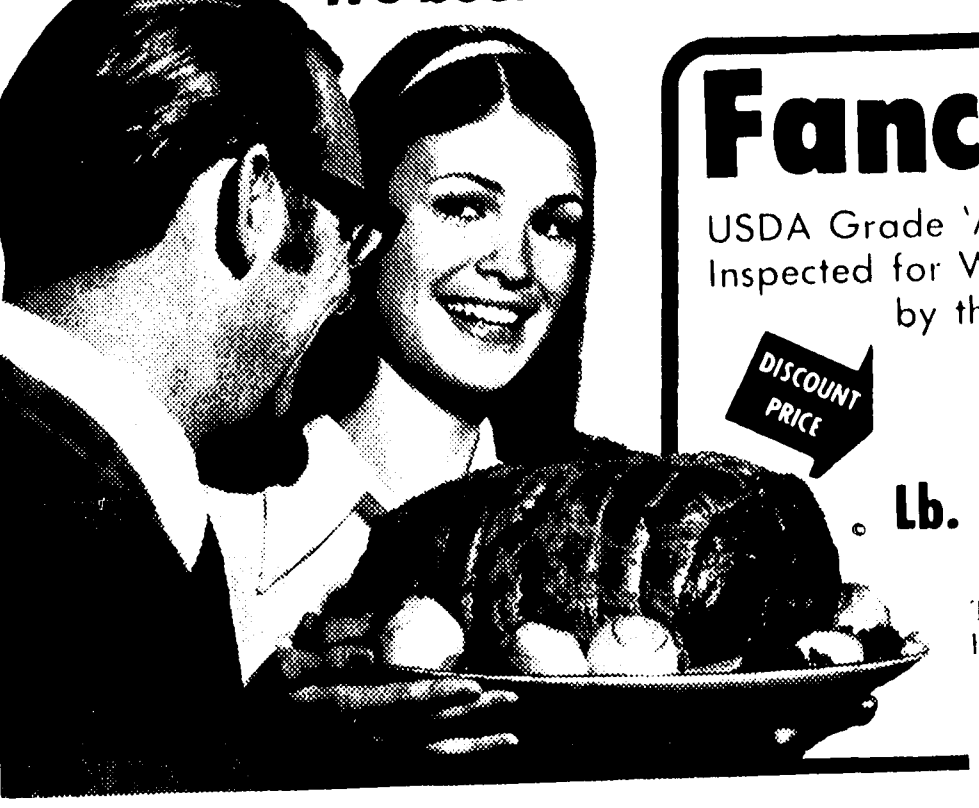

Lon Nol's principal rival, former National Assembly president In Tam, got 181,326 votes, or 27.92 per cent of the vote, the radio said. Keo An, dean of the Phnom Penh University law school, received 135,695 votes, or 20.9 per cent of the ballots cast so far, the radio said. Keo An had advocated Sihanouk's return from exile in Peking as a private citizen.

While civilians voted in small numbers in Phnom Penh, soldiers voted in large numbers in their barracks under the supervision of avowedly pro-Lon Nol officers.

Rolling Stones Open American Tour

By JOHN COTTER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Early in this year of momentous journeys, word of a different trip began circulating. It was mostly whispered: The Stones are coming back.

It in no way attracted the attention of President Nixon's jaunts to Peking or Moscow, but it excited thousands of people who awaited the planned American excursion by those five beguiling Englishmen.

"Hey, man, did you hear about the Stones?"

That was the word. It blossomed daily.

The Rolling Stones, you surely know, is a rock 'n' roll band—many say The rock 'n' roll band.

Their six-week tour opens June 3. In 54 days they rock 30 cities of all sizes—Chicago and Los Angeles, Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Knoxville, Tenn.

The last American visit of the Rolling Stones was 2½ years ago.

It turned into what has become known as a classic bummer, a December disaster on a dusty, glass-spattered drag strip called Altamont, Calif.

It was creep heaven there and the Stones played "Jumpin' Jack Flash" and "Sympathy for the Devil" and "Street Fighting Man" for free and for their cameras. An estimated 300,000 turned out.

And now, there's hope that scene is done and logged and the vibrations will be good again in 1972.

What happened at Altamont depends on whom you talked to and when.

Most, however, accept the story that the Stones decided to perform a free concert which somehow ended up on the race track. The band or its agents—the wisdom goes unaccounted for—decided it would be kooky to hire the Hell's Angels as security men. The cost of these St. Christophers in leather and nice old Nazi medallions was $500 worth of beer.

The Hell's Angels were very big then.

Crazies were very big then, too. It was the thing to do and a lot of them decided to do it at Altamont.

Among them was Meredith Hunter, an 18-year-old black. He brought a gun to Altamont—a very crazy thing to do. He did an even crazier thing when he pulled it out and started waving it around after stumbling over one of the Hell's Angels motorcycles.

Meredith Hunter probably never saw the knife going into him. He died knowing it did.

And the Rolling Stones sang on. They got an album out of it and a movie called "Gimme Shelter." They also got a lot of bad mouth, but they survived.

Most of all the Rolling Stones survived the Beatles, although the two rock groups never were trying to beat each other out.

The Beatles came on freaky, those four working class fellows, and quickly became the bad boys of both the Pepsi and the Veritol sets.

Not so, the Rolling Stones. Some incredibly depraved, bulimic boys, rapists and worse, and look at that Mick Jagger, standing on the stage, that that ... whatever he is ... that neuter, up there flaunting it all over the place, my God."

And the Stones ate it up. And spit it back. Jagger as late as the late tour in 1969 after ripping through a pounding number would coo: "I think I've busted a button on me trousers and me trousers are going to fall down. You don't want me trousers to fall down, do you?"

But the 60's are over now, the Beatles are four years gone, and the Rolling Stones have become the enduring rock 'n' roll band. Others have come and gone, but the Stones play on sticking together, rolling with rock's changes. They are the new institution.

They're nearing their 30s, fathering children. But the flash is still there. They still can excite the different age groups, those who go back to "Not Fade Away" and to "Satisfaction" or to those who are just hitting off on "Tumbling Dice," the latter from their tour album, "Exile on Main Street."

And there is no reason to doubt they will go on.

Bar to Put Observer in Legislature

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Henry Woods of Little Rock, new president of the Arkansas Bar Association, has reported that the bar will have a full-time "legislative liaison man" for the 1973 session of the General Assembly.

Woods, speaking Saturday in his inaugural address, said the budget committee of the association had approved the employment of the liaison man.

He said the ABA had sponsored an "ambitious and progressive" legislative program for the 1971 session, but much of the program was not enacted because "the potential political clout of our association—which I believe is considerable was never brought to bear on the legislature."

Woods also initiated a "client security fund" by donating $100 from his law firm. He said client security funds had been established by bar associations of other states to protect persons who have suffered financial loss because of the dishonesty of a lawyer.

"The rogues and crooks in our profession constitute an infinitesimal part of its makeup, but their defalcations are given wide publicity in the media," Woods said.

He said "the greatest public relations blow that could be struck for our profession in Arkansas would be the immediate establishment of a client security fund."

Woods said that if bar members donated $10 the association would have $15,000 for the fund while we explore methodist of permanent financing.

Candidate's Wives On Campaign Trail

By CAMPBELL GARDETT
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) —

Muriel Humphrey, shuttling between speaking appearances, has finished two needlepoint pillow slips since January—they took 9,000 road miles each.

Eleanor McGovern, fatigued and underweight, still has trouble eating hurried lunches, but says she has learned to overcome stage fright.

Once next-door neighbors in Washington with a "warm relationship," each submits to the same demanding ambition: to make her husband president of the United States.

Both are in California on their own campaign trails seeking votes in Tuesday's Democratic primary for their husbands. Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern.

The women's campaigns, like their husbands', are ordeals that can entail working days of 19 hours. Each has made 17 appearances in a single day. For more than a week, they may see their husbands only on news programs.

It's a bewildering round of teas, talks and television spots, but they both say they like it.

"It's a crazy life, but it's great," said Mrs. Humphrey.

Mrs. McGovern concedes that her Washington neighbor of 1966 has an advantage in campaign experience. Muriel Humphrey was the first wife of a candidate to campaign independently outside her home state that was 1960 in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Humphrey, who said she was once afraid to address her own women's club, is a relaxed speaker now with a resonant, calming voice.

Mrs. McGovern admits to being nervous.

"Before one of these speaking tours, I'm not fit to live with," she said. "My family always knows when I'm about to campaign—no one has to tell them. It's stage fright, I guess. But once I start speaking, I get over it right away."

Like Mrs. Humphrey, Eleanor McGovern describes her campaigning as "low key." But she said she still "couldn't do it seven days a week," as Mrs.

Humphrey does. Mrs. McGovern has been campaigning four days and spending three at home with her teenage children.

She admitted that at times she wished her husband wasn't running—"because of the pressures on him." But she added, "I still agree with him that campaigns shouldn't be easy. The candidate should be tested, because the presidency isn't easy."

Mrs. McGovern came to Los Angeles on Thursday, arriving a day late from Santa Fe because of exhaustion. Her weight is down to 91 pounds, from 100, and McGovern workers are protective of her.

She spoke at a plush hotel at a large, stylish $10-a-plate luncheon spotted with celebrities. At the same time, Muriel Humphrey, soft drink in hand, was speaking at neighborhood gatherings in the suburbs. The audiences were middle-class women, and copies of her beef soup recipe were on hand.

Mrs. Humphrey wore light television-type makeup, but ironically it was Mrs. McGovern the TV cameras waited on. It was Mrs. McGovern's first stop in California since September. Muriel Humphrey has been campaigning here about two weeks.

Both women address a variety of audiences. They emphasize their trips to schools and community projects and both feel they get closer to individual voters than their husbands can.

The women speak fondly of one another, and Thursday in Los Angeles both asked a re-
